A GUIDED WALK AROUND HYTHE

Every Thursday from June to September.
10.30 at The Town Hall. No need to book.
Cost only £1 (under 16s free)

Hythe – ancient Cinque Port – has over 1,000 years of history. This is revealed and explored in a leisurely walk lasting about an hour and a half around the town guided by a member of Hythe Civic Society.

- Find out the part Hythe played in the defence of the Realm and how it earned its title Cinque Port.
- Learn about the importance of the town on the Pilgrims’ route to the Shrine of St. Thomas à Becket, and enjoy the beauty of St Leonard’s Church and, as an extra, take in the historic bones in the crypt.
- Discover the history of parts of the town even many of the locals don’t know.
- Soak up the atmosphere in the historic High Street with its unique architecture; visit the Royal Military Canal, built to keep Napoleon at bay.

... and when the walk is over...we guarantee...You’ll like Hythe even more!

Parties of 10 or more by appointment

CAN YOU HELP?
Tynwald needs Volunteers.

Here at Tynwald residential home, we are very pleased to be able to offer our residents a varied range of activities every day. We play bowls, bingo, cards and many other fun ways of passing our time.
As a charitable trust, we are extremely lucky and grateful to already have a group of volunteers. Along with the team here, they work hard to ensure that there is always something to help stimulate our residents or help them with small tasks. Our residents enjoy meeting new people and it’s nice to be able to have others ‘on board’ as every person brings new skills and benefits to Tynwald. Do you have any free time? Have you ever considered being a volunteer? We would love to show you around and see if you could offer support, friendship or assistance with activities, even if you can only spare an hour, it could make a real difference to somebody’s day.

From the cutting-edge London design agency Here Design - writer and poet Philip Cowell, and award-winning designer Caz Hildebrand, author of The Herbarium, this playful, original, beautifully designed book brings to life the punctuation marks we use every day, including:

- The dashing dash -
- So-called "quotation marks"
- The colon: and on and on.
- The shouty exclamation!
- The three dots of...
- (Not forgetting the brackets)

And even more
The subject of my report this month is litter.

During the summer holidays we are happy to welcome increasing visitor numbers but this can create additional litter problems at the Districts attractions which include the treats on offer at the Newington Barn and Elham Valley Line Trust. Thankfully the visitors to these two attractions do seem to respect them and in the main dispose of their litter responsibility plus the local volunteers play their part in keeping things tidy. Notwithstanding this it is important to remind visitors to play their part so the District Council has relaunched its musically based anti litter campaign.

Don't be a litterbug - Pick me up before you go go

Residents and visitors to the Folkestone and Hythe area are being encouraged to take their rubbish home by an anti-litter campaign launched by the district council this week. A parody of the 1980's Wham! classic heads the campaign which has been revived once again after having a successful impact last summer. The fun and catchy take on "Wake me up before you go go" aims to persuade people to put their litter in a bin or take it home after they've visited the district's beaches and parks.

Children from a local performing arts group, NEON, star in a music video of the re-worded 'Pick me up before you go go'.

"If you love our beautiful district then support this message and share it with your friends. The more people who are aware, the greater the opportunity for this to make a real impact - and result in less litter."

"Our message is simple - please put your litter in a bin or take it home. Just make sure you 'pick it up before you go go!'"
Another area of concern is fly tipping in the area and we are reminding residents of the dangers of paying unregistered and unscrupulous traders to take away their rubbish.

Most of the time waste is collected in bins or residents personally take their own waste to the local tip. However, sometimes people offer to take waste away on a resident's behalf only to fly tip the rubbish later.

Everybody has a duty to ensure their waste ends up in the right place. Residents that don't take reasonable steps to achieve this will be guilty of a 'Duty of Care' offence. This applies to any waste produced at home including household refuse, garden waste or bulkier waste, such as mattresses or white goods.

To check your rubbish is being disposed of correctly you should ask the following questions: 1. Name and vehicle details 2. Where they are taking your waste 3. Do they have an Upper Tier Waste Carriers' License

Anyone collecting waste from another person must have a license and you must ask to see a copy of their license before instructing them to do the job. You can call the Environment Agency on 08708 506506 to request an instant waste carrier validation check, or check the public register online at: brokers. If they turn out not to be registered then please report them to the authorities.

St Nicholas Church Newington

I was pleased to award £500 from my Ward budget to the Friends of St Nicholas Church to help towards their wall repairs. There is still a long way to go but every little helps.

Cllr David Godfrey
Cabinet Member for Special Projects
From your County Councillor

Thank you to those of you who sent me letters in support of my nomination of the Elham Valley Line Trust for a Queen’s Award for Volunteering. I’d be grateful for further support from individuals and organisations about the positive impact this group has had on Newington parish.

Are we ready for Brexit in Kent? Well if not, it won’t be for lack of effort. Plans were put in place for the anticipated date of 31 March and have now been updated for 31 October. Over £30m has been spent on improvements to the road network and there have been detailed plans agreed with Kent Police and other partners to cope with varying degrees of traffic problems. As ever we are hoping for the best but planning for the worst and there will be a paper of Brexit preparedness going to our County Council meeting on 12 September (papers available a week in advance on our website).

As I write, we know that Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sajid Javid has announced an extra £2.1 billion is to be made available for no-deal Brexit preparation across the UK. Within this figure, the Chancellor is setting aside £344 million to help get new border and customs operations ready. This includes:

* An extra 500 border force officers, meaning up to 1,000 more officers this year.
* Boosting capacity to process UK passport applications this year, helping avoid delays.
* Doubling the support made available for customs agents to train new staff or invest in better IT so businesses can get the support they need to complete customs declarations.
* Improving transport infrastructure around ports and additional funding for ‘Operation Brock’ to manage traffic disruption in Kent.
* Enhancing support available on government helplines.

In welcoming this extra funding, KCC Leader Paul Carter said, ‘We don’t yet know whether we are going to have an acrimonious or an amicable split from Europe, but we simply must be prepared for all eventualities. Our preparedness for the March 31 EU Exit was pretty good from a transport perspective – working with the Department for Transport, Kent Police and other partners in preparing for delays at the ports of Folkestone and Dover. However, there were several significant unresolved issues back in March, and questions that were unanswered. These were mainly around how the customs clearance and paperwork system will operate and work.’ KCC will continue to raise this issue until we are satisfied it is fully resolved."

Brexit is not the only matter affecting local government and with a new Prime Minister and team in place KCC has been pressing the case for more funding for infrastructure, care for the elderly, children with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities as well as preparations for Brexit. There will be a paper on Brexit at our County Council meeting on 12 September which will be available on our website a week in advance

Our website www.kent.gov.uk will also have the latest information.
